

Acronis Backup Subscription Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

WHY SUBSCRIPTION?

Your IT department is under increasing pressure to do more with less while dealing with an ever-increasing variety of systems and data types. With Acronis Backup subscription licensing models, your company can enjoy attractive pricing and eliminate the burden on the balance sheet by shifting capital expense investments (CAPEX) to operational expenses (OPEX). Best yet, your organisation can back up more data, back up more systems, and back up more business.

Acronis subscription licensing is very straightforward. One solution protects any virtual or physical system and applications, which significantly simplifies the procurement process.

WHAT IS THE SUBSCRIPTION LICENSING POLICY?

An Acronis subscription is available in one-, two-, and three-year options to suit your specific business needs. You simply get the necessary number of licences for each of your systems.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

You receive special subscription licence keys — allowing you to install the software on any supported physical, virtual, or cloud system.

HOW DOES IT COMPARE TO TRADITIONAL PERPETUAL LICENSING?

Subscription licences cover all supported operating systems and applications without any limitations. For example, with an Acronis Backup Advanced Server subscription, you can protect any physical server (Windows® or Linux®), any virtual host (VMware®, Hyper-V®, Citrix XenServer®, Linux® KVM, Red Hat® Virtualization, Oracle® VM Server), any cloud server VM (Microsoft Azure® or Amazon EC2®), all applications on these servers (Oracle Database®, Microsoft Exchange®, SQL Server®, SharePoint® and Active Directory®). You also get 24/7 technical support and free upgrades to new versions.
